remember

Eclosion

The chrysalis gradually changes in colour, some becoming transparent or a different colour just before the butterfly emerges. The chrysalis breaks open over the head, and the legs quickly grab hold of the shell and what it is attached to and it hangs downward for awhile with its large abdomen and crumpled up wings.

While it hangs in this position, fluid from its body is pumped into the structures of the wings making them expand. This takes less than ten minutes, then the butterfly may crawl to a better position as it waits for its wings to dry since this can take up to a couple hours.

The emergence of the butterfly does require effort and time. But the end result is beautiful.

“Now the thing I want to stress is that all these wonderful things have been made possible by the very thing we have come to celebrate—the bruising to death of the Son, the only begotten; the sacrifice of the virgin-born for love’s sake... I know it is an awful thing to contemplate that we have a responsibility for the Lord’s death, but let us recall the words of the Lamb of God: ‘Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do.’ At the very centre of the memorial service there is pardon for all.” —Dennis Gillett (May You Know it to be True)

Read through this Psalm several times this week. Find a version of it put to music if you can and listen to it, or find an audio version of it and listen to it. Take some coloured pencils and mark it up.

Psalm 65

To the chief Musician, A Psalm and Song of David.

Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Sion: and unto thee shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come. Iniquities prevail against me: as for our transgressions, thou shalt purge them away. Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and causest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple.

By terrible things in righteousness wilt thou answer us, O God of our salvation; who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off upon the sea: Which by his strength setteth fast the mountains; being girded with power: Which stilleth the noise of the seas, the noise of their waves, and the tumult of the people. They also that dwell in the uttermost parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makest the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.

Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it. Thou waterest the ridges thereof abundantly: thou settlest the furrows thereof: thou makest it soft with showers: thou blessest the springing thereof. Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness. They drop upon the pastures of the wilderness: and the little hills rejoice on every side. The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing.
